HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

VOLUME 3 Moweaqua Call-Mail 1894 – 1897

TO THE READER:

This is the third volume prepared from extracts taken from the Moweaqua Call-Mail. Volume 3 covers the years 1894 through the end of 1897. This volume has been expanded to include the following sections

a. Sketches of Individuals found in the Moweagua Call-Mail:

Sketches of individuals have been extracted from newspapers when found. They are listed alphabetically on the cover sheet of that section. To add interest to this book, I have also included extracts of some of the local ads found in the various years. These ads are included in the 'sketch portion', but are not indexed

b. Common Illnesses - Old Diseases - Modern Definitions:

Many tragic deaths were attributed to strange sounding illnesses that were very common during this time. Because of antibiotics and great strides in medical advancement, many of these diseases have been cured. I have researched the most common illnesses mentioned and added a brief description of them for reference. These common illnesses caused much distress to our pioneer ancestors, and often times led to their deaths.

c. Newspapers Mentioned in the Moweaqua Call-Mail:

Often times articles were copied from other local newspapers and included as part of the news in the Moweaqua Call-Mail. When this happened, I have shown reference by listing the applicable newspaper in (). For reference only, I have compiled a list of the most frequently quoted newspapers during this time period. I have listed them in alphabetical order on the 'newspaper list', and included a brief description/history of the paper.

d. Names and Places Mentioned in the Moweagua Call-Mail:

Some of the towns and villages mentioned may no longer appear on maps. Therefore, I have added this section, which includes a description of specific location of many of these small towns. When additional information was found, I included that information as a brief narrative.

e. Maps – Township, County, Locality and State of Illinois (1822, 1876, and 1999):
For easy reference, I have expanded the map section, which includes maps dated 1822, 1876, and a more recent map. This section includes township maps, county maps (plat book info) and state maps.

f. Extracts: Like the first two volumes, this volume includes exact calendars for each given year, births, marriages, and deaths, as well as birthday celebrations and anniversary celebrations. I have included the calendars in this work since their inclusion may help future researchers pinpoint a birthday or wedding date of specific individuals. This will add to the genealogical value of this document.

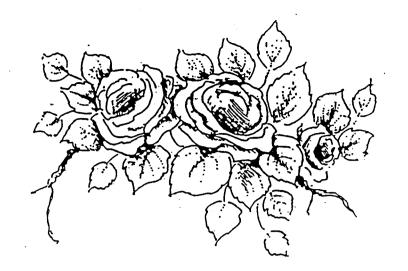

Entries are made in chronological order, however, this should not be a problem as the index provides exact page numbers. Women's names sometimes cause a problem, as their names are given as 'Mrs J D Doe', which does not distinguish if 'J D' is her initials or her husband's. Thus, women are listed as: Doe, J D (Mrs). If women's maiden names are known, they are listed under both the maiden name and the married name. Because of the type of information recorded, names may be listed on the index in several ways with several spelling variations. Names were copied verbatim as given in the articles.

If I was unsure of any information, found an obvious mistake, or did not copy an article in its entirety, I have included a '(Note)' at the end of the information given. There are over 6,500 individual names indexed. I have tried to be as accurate as possible, however, the actual papers were extremely fragile and sometimes the print was not as good as it could have been. There is some duplication of the extracts, but I chose to leave them in 'as found'. Most of the articles have been copied verbatim. Occasionally a week's issue was missing. I have annotated any omissions.

I have tried to make this an informative, easy to use book, quick reference guide for specific individuals and event, and to capture as much information concerning the ancestors of Moweaqua and Shelby County area as possible. Acknowledgement should be given to Moweaqua Librarian, Ms Barbara Collins – without her diligence, this project would have not been possible.

This is the Arc Light.

The CALL-MAIL takes pleasure in presenting herewith a most excellent picture of a 2000—candle power "Wood" Arc Lamp, which has been kindly supplied us by the Fort Wayne Electrical corporation, Ft. Wayne, Indiana. This is the riyle of lamp with which Moweaqua is soon to be lighted, and is one of the latest productions of this great corporation. With ten of these lamps Moweaqua will present a wonderfully changed appearance at night. It will just be the handsomest little city—not in Shelby county, not in Illinois, not in the United States—but on the face of the earth. We have said it. Selah!

some of the gowns the bodice is cut in a very large square and in this case soft chiffon is laid in folds and so arranged as not only to drape the neck, but to partly cover the shoulders. A folded belt or narrow pointed girdle in silver filigree is at the waist. The still highly popular round waist is still used by designers and modistes for gowns of crepon and mohair or alpaca, for which there is a rage. An immense sailor collar with pointed rever attached is a feature of these and many other gowns of the aummer. Skirts accompanying these waists are shaped with gores on the front and eides, three box plaits in the back, the skirt measuring nearly five yards around the bottom. Silk net, French batiste and flowered India muslin and organdy form some of the most charming toilets of the season. Hats and parasols are often en suite.

Another beautiful textile is patterned silk grenadine which, when made up over taffeta with the prevailing color brought out in relief on the corsage, forms a very elegant and becoming toilet for dressy summer wear.

Tan, fawn and eern grass linens, both plain and in openwork patterns, rival the duck and Teviot suitings in fashionable favor. These as a rule are made with drooping fronted plaited blouse waist with huge marine collar of the linen bordered with a band of openwork linen insertion matching the gown.

COMMON ILLNESSES Old Disease Names and Their Modern Definitions

An alphabetical listing of the common illnesses and diseases often mentioned in the extracts in this book. Many of these diseases were the cause of many of the deaths listed in this book.

Acute Nephritis: Inflammation of infection of the kidneys as opposed to the lower urinary tract. Acute nephritis disease follows infections with streptococci, which used to give rise to scarlet fever. Symptoms include sore throat, blood in urine, swelling of the face and legs, pain in the small of the back, headache and rise of blood pressure. Patient may become breathless and suffer from nausea. Treatment is bed rest, salt free diet, fluids are restricted and intake of protein cut. After a week to ten days patient showed signs of improvement. Death was usually caused by the complications associated with nephritis. (See Bright's Disease and Nephritis)

Apoplexy: A stroke or 'brain attack'. It is an old term, seldom used today. The condition is caused by an acute blocked or broken artery in the brain. Responsible for stopping part of the blood supply of the brain resulting in loss of consciousness, paralysis or death. The effects of a stroke may be lifelong, because dead brain cells are not replaced. A stroke can affect the senses, motor activity and speech. Today's treatment may include surgery, drugs, hospital care and rehabilitation.

Biliousness: Jaundice or other symptoms associated with liver disease; any upset leading to vomiting bile.

Bright's disease: A kidney disease. Named for Dr Richard Bright, an English Physician who first described the disease in 1827. Cause is unknown. The disease is characterized by leakage of blood protein into the urine. Sometimes the first symptoms are puffiness around the eyes or difficulty putting shoes on from swollen feet. Around 1913 physicians stopped using the term 'Bright's disease' for kidney diseases/disorders. Fatal prior to 1913/1915 era. (See 'Acute Nephritis' and 'Nephritis')

Camp Fever: Usually another name for typhoid fever. Typhus has appeared in the ports, but it was not a disease of the Civil War. In spite of repeated introductions from Europe and from Mexico, this form of typhus failed to form a permanent foothold in either Canada or the United States. The American Civil War of 1861-1865 was one of the few wars of any magnitude in which typhus was not epidemic among the military camps, prisons, refugee camps. (Also see Typhoid Fever)

Catarrah: Also spelled 'Catarrh'. Hippocratic word meaning discharge from an inflamed mucous membrane, particularly from the membranes lining the air sinuses of the head and the air passages of the nose and throat. As a diagnosis, 'catarrh' has almost disappeared, for it is entirely 'unspecific', as the name for a symptom, it tends to linger.

Catarral Fever: See Catarrah

Cholera/Cholera infantum: Cholera infantum refers to cholera occurring in the very young infant and up to 2 to 3 year old youngsters; 'infantum' being Latin for 'infant'. Cause is the infection with the cholera virus; incubation period is 2 to 5 days. Greatest danger is the loss of body fluids. There are normally 3 stages: (1) Mild diarrhea and vomiting which can rapidly get worse; patient experiences severe cramps. Temperature is raised but the skin is cold and blue, patient may have a terrible thirst, which, when satisfied by water only makes the cramping worse. This stage may last 3 to 12 hours. (2) Stage of collapse; body starts to become colder, the skin dry, voice weak and husky, urine scanty and dark or altogether absent. Blood pressure falls to a low level. Young infants normally die at this stage; may occur in as little as 24 hours after the first onset. (3) In favorable cases, the third state is the stage of recovery. Follows when all the changes appear to reverse themselves, with fluid loss decreasing and the general condition improving. However, the danger lies in that a relapse may occur or the patient may sink into a condition resembling typhoid fever in which he gradually deteriorates over a period of two or three weeks. During this 'stage of reaction', the temperature may be raised and the patient may be in danger from pneumonia. Treatment is combating the loss of fluids and salts from the body by having the patient ingest a saline solution. All cases must be isolated and bedding and everything soiled by the patients must be sterilized to prevent spreading and contamination. Very severe; frequently resulted in death, especially in the very young children.

Consumption: See Tuberculosis. The effect of the disease was that of 'wasting away'.

Cramp Colic: Appendicitis. Inflammation of the appendix. Symptoms include stomach pain nausea or vomiting, tenderness in the lower right portion of the abdomen and fever. Prompt surgical intervention is necessary. If an infected appendix is allowed to remain in a patient, it can rupture or cause extreme infection in the lower abdomen and toxins in the body, and death will result.

Croup: Congested cough.

Death from 'Teething': Tooth infections with inflammation and cellulitis were causes of illness and death before there was adequate dentistry.

Diphtheria. A contagious infection caused by a bacteria. Infection most often attacks the respiratory system, causing severe swelling of the airways—sometimes severe enough to block most or all airflow and causing death. The infection may also cause inflammation of the heart and nerves. Prior to 1920, diphtheria spread freely, causing epidemics and often killing children and patients in a weakened condition. Prior to this time, this was one of the most frequent causes of death and most feared disease. The most common form results in a patient with a sore throat and a severe respiratory problem. A characteristic gray membrane develops over the tonsils and the back of the throat. It is a sheet of cells, bacteria and secretions that can break loose and completely block the airways, producing a medical emergency. Diphtheria infections can exhibit several variations (sinus infections, larynx (voice box) infections, and some strains produce a toxin that damages the heart and nerves. Symptoms first appear two to five days of exposure to a person infected with diphtheria and include sore throat, runny nose fatigue, headache, fever and chills, nausea, hoarseness, difficulty breathing, cough and difficulty swallowing. Today's treatment includes immunization via vaccinations and if already contacted, antibiotics of penicillin and erythromycin are effective.

Dropsy: Edema (Swelling) Retention of body fluids in some tissue or cavity of the body, usually of the hands and feet, although other parts of the body may show visible signs. Water (fluid) retention of the body is caused by kidney or heart disease. Today is more commonly called 'kidney failure' or 'congestive heart failure'. Today's treatment includes prescribing various drugs to relieve the fluid build-up; Lasix is one of the most popular prescription drugs, although there are others available. (See Dropsy of the heart)

Dropsy of the heart: Fluid build up around the heart sac. Retention of body fluids in the chest cavity which, if left untreated will cause death to a patient because the body system shuts down. An old name for 'congestive heart failure'. (See Dropsy)

Encephalitis (Viral): Among the most severe of insect borne infections. Illness caused by a virus spread by the bit of a mosquito which has bitten an animal that carries the virus then transfer it when biting a human. Most cases of encephalitis occurring during mosquito season, from late spring until early frost. Person may become confused, feverish, sleeping, develop a headache, vomit, staggered walk, difficulty in talking or seem to be in a perpetual state of nightmare. Some of the viruses that cause viral encepahgalitis can destroy parts of the brain.

Erysipelas: This disease prevailed as an epidemic and many suffered terribly from this disease. When it attacked the face (its favorite site), the features were horribly swollen and distorted, the eyes closed, and when all was painted over with iodine (a frequent local remedy), the sufferer's countenance was as in-human like as can be imagined.

Falling sickness: Epilepsy

Gout: Still called this today. Inflammation of an extremity — usually the foot, resulting from some fatty blood vessel/circulation problems. Not dissimilar to arthritis, but not involving the joint in the same way. It refers to an inflammation, not just in a joint, or an extremity, caused by the formation of crystals of oxalic acid when it accumulates in the body. It most often occurs in joints where circulation is poor, but can even cause gallstones or kidney stones. Extremely painful, may cause the infected area to become hot, redden, and vary in sensitivity. Often called the 'rich man's disease', probably comes from the fact that anything which aggravates the acid level in the blood may bring on an attack, including lots of red meat (since that was expensive until modern times, only the well-to-do might be exposed to that 'trigger' of gout). Today's remedy includes increasing the intake of water. An attack can be calmed within 12 hours or so to the point where it's possible to walk again. Without treatment, attacks diminish over a week to ten day period. Most common gout manifests itself as a swelling in the big toe joint (either foot). The most common description is: high uric acid levels in the blood cause uric acid crystals to form in the joint linings. As the joint moves, then it's equivalent to having sandpaper rubbing against the joint linings and bone – result: incredible pain. Attacks come on very suddenly without warnings. Neither heat nor cold packs seem to make much difference.

Heatstroke: A grave emergency that is often fatal; caused by body fluids and salts they contain have been passed off from the body; person suffering from heatstroke has gotten overheated and suffers from dehydration. Act quickly to cool the victim. Symptoms include very hot, absolutely dry skin and no sweating. Body temperature is very high, from 104 degrees to an incredible 110 degrees. The victim may exhibit weakness, dizziness, rapid breathing, nausea, unconsciousness and mental confusion. Onset is dramatically sudden. Apply ice cold cloths to the head, drench clothes with warm water or pour water on them, even spray with a hose. Preferably strip the victim's clothing, wrap in a sheet then keep the sheet wet with cold water; keep victim in prone position; rub their arms and legs toward the heart.

Hydrophobia: See Rabies

La Grippe: Commonly known as Flu. 'La Grippe' is French for the English word 'grippe'. In modern days we know this as either 'influenza' or simply 'the flu'. The flu used to be a deadly disease and still can be fore people with immune systems weakened by other diseases, age or general bad health. One of the greatest dangers from LaGrippe is it resulting in pneumonia and other complications that lead to death of the patient. Modern treatment is antibiotics and bed rest; preventative measures are annual flu injections.

Lockjaw: Also commonly known as Tetanus. Tetanus (lockjaw) is a serious disease that is caused by an organism that produces spores that act as tiny seeds, can be found in the soil and the intestinal tracts of man and animals. The spores commonly enter our bodies through cuts, burns, scratches and other wounds. Only where there is dead tissue or the tissue has closed over a wound and excludes oxygen can the micro-organisms develop. They then produce tetanus toxin, a powerful nerve poison that travels along the nerves and produces damage to the central nervous system. The interval between the time of a wound and the appearance of symptoms ranges from a few days to months. Severe cases appear quickly. The onset of tetanus causes restlessness, irritability, stiffness of muscle groups and difficulty swallowing. Muscle spasms in a limb or jaws is sometimes the first evidence of the disease, hence 'lockjaw'. Tetanus is very severe and often leads to death. Today's treatment consists of giving oxygen to assist in breathing. Antibiotics kill the bacteria, but they do not neutralize the toxin that has already been released. It is still very serious today and preventative measures are taken by periodic tetanus injections, followed by booster shots.

Lung fever: See Pneumonia

Lung Sickness: See Tuberculosis

Malarial fever: An infection with the parasite of malaria carried by mosquitoes. The parasite must find the liver within one hour after introduction into the blood stream or they die. If they do find the liver, they grow there and reproduce. The parasites leave the liver as 'merozoites' which pass into the blood and invade the red blood corpuscles where they start their life cycle. Four main sorts of malaria; all have the same symptoms of headache, shivering, sweating and pains in the limbs. Symptoms may appear as short as 6 days after infection. Clumps of the malaria may block capillaries in the vital organs—brain and spinal nervous systems, lungs and suprarenals—at any time during the course of the disease, which may prove to be quickly fatal. Prevention includes removal of breeding places for the mosquito; keeping houses free of mosquitoes and today, use of insect repellent. Treatment of malaria since the seventeenth century was 'quinine' which acts against the parasites while they are inside the red blood cells. It is not often used now because quinine can affect the ears and may cause Blackwater fever. In acute emergencies, intravenous treatment with drugs is effective. Relapses may occur with the same force as the initial onset of malaria.

Milk Leg: In the 1800's, milk leg was common following childbirth. It was a painful swelling of the leg soon after childbirth due to thrombosis of the large veins. Today it would commonly be called 'phlebitis' or an infection or irritation of the veins of the leg, caused by inflammation and clotting in the femoral veins, usually as a result of infection during childbirth. The more formal name is 'Phlegmasia Alba Dolens'. Today's treatment includes bed rest, elastic support and aspirin.

Nephritis: Refers to any condition that produces inflammation and damage to the kidney tubes and spaces between them. A synonym for nephritis is Bright's disease named for Richard Bright (1789-1858) who described examples of many different diseases which can be included under the term 'nephritis'. A convenient classification used to divide medical diseases of the kidney into acute nephritis, chronic nephritis and nephrotic syndromes. In the 1800's and earlier, kidney inflammation/failure led to death of the patient. Chronic nephritis was the state into which patients passed who did not make a complete recovery from acute nephritis. Treatment includes complete bed rest, salt-free diets, fluid restriction (until the patient shows improvement) and decrease of protein. (Also see Bright's disease)

Peritonitis: Inflammation of the peritoneum. Caused by perforation of an internal organ, the spread of a bacterial infection, or interference with the blood supply to an internal organ. May be acute. Symptoms include severe pain spreading all over the abdomen. Patient lies still, is pale and has a quick thready pulse, bad breath, dry, clammy skin, breathing is shallow and constipation absolute. Muscles of the abdominal wall are rigid. Treatment consists of antibotics followed by fluids.

Pneumonia: Inflammation of the lungs. There are two types, lobar- and bronchopneumonia, but they run into each other and are treated the same way. Caused from infection with bacteria, viruses and similar organisms. Symptoms include high fever, shivers, dry cough, over a few hours the cough may worsen, pleurisy may develop, causing extreme pain on breathing. Treatment includes an antibiotic such as penicillin, bed rest and increased fluids. Oxygen may be required by the very ill or elderly patients. Bacterial pneumonia is still a severe and dangerous disease; the majority of patients respond quickly to today's treatment, however, many deaths were attributed to pneumonia before penicillin and today's antibiotics.

Rabies (Hydrophobia): This is an extremely painful, fatal disease resulting from an infection of the nervous system by the rabies virus, transmitted by an infected animal through a bite or through licking the damaged human skin. The offending animal was usually a wild species, such as a skunk, fox, raccoon, or bat, but may be carried by a domestic animal (cat or dog) that has come into contact with the wild animal. The individual loses control of their nervous system, goes into convulsions, delirium, loses control of saliva (foaming of the mouth) and runs an extremely high fever. Death comes as a blessed relief. Today's treatment involves use of a vaccine that is very painful and must be given frequently into the stomach cavity. Capture of the offending animal, observation and examination of the animal can possibly avoid an individual taking the painful shots if it is found the animal clear of rabies.

Scarlet Fever: One of the childhood diseases that have been tamed by antibiotics. It is a highly contagious infection that is caused by streptococcal bacteria with a very strong endotoxin (bacterial poison). A common cause of death in children before the 20th century; spread by coming into contact with an infected person or inhalation of the bacteria. Once a common and very dangerous illness to young children, usually between the ages of 2 and 10 years. Incubation period of two to five days after exposure, starts with a very high fever of up to 104 degrees, sore throat, followed by nausea vomiting, headache and abdominal pain. Anywhere from 12 to 48 hours later a distinctive scarlet rash appears, first on the neck and chest and then all over the body. The rash feels like sandpaper. In areas of skinfolds, such as armpits, elbow creases, the rash may have a characteristic appearance. Bright red or scarlet rash may appear, usually on the neck or chest. Glands in the neck may be come swollen. The tongue becomes swollen and turn bright red. After 3 days the rash and fever usually disappear but the tongue may remain swollen for several more days. Collapse and death may come in as short a time as 48 hours. Like all infectious diseases, it appeared in 'bursts' or epidemics. Unlike certain other childhood diseases, scarlet fever CANNOT be left to run its course. It must be treated or it can lead to arthritis, jaundice, kidney problems and rheumatic fever. Like so many of the diseases common to our ancestors, this disease is no longer so violent and children are not as high a risk for these complications today. Today's treatment includes penicillin and other antibiotics.

Tetanus – See Lockjaw

Typhoid fever: A common cause of typhoid fever is impure drinking water. Several types – malignant type was in epidemic proportions in Eastern Illinois in 1896. Typhoid fever's danger doesn't end when symptoms disappear. Even if the symptoms seem to go away, the patient may be a carrier. If so, the illness could return, or you could pass the disease to other people. Care should be taken to wash hands after using the bathroom.

Typhus: Caused by a bacteria; you can get typhus if you come in contact with insects such as lice or fleas infected with the bacteria. More common in areas where people live in overcrowded, dirty conditions with few opportunities to wash themselves, or can be carried by fleas that live on rats and other rodents. Flu-like symptoms and a pink or red rash characterize all forms of typhus. Typhus can cause serious complications such as pneumonia, swelling of the heart muscle, or liver and spleen. If untreated, can be fatal in elderly persons or persons with impaired immune systems, and the very young. Symptoms include fever, chills, headache, weakness, muscle aches and pains, slightly raised pink or red rash, usually appearing four to eight days after the illness begins, and extreme fatigue. All forms of typhus are treated with antibiotics and respond to this. Improvement usually occurs one to two days after beginning medication.

Whooping Cough: A highly contagious respiratory infection, considered to be one of the most serious traditional childhood diseases. If untreated, it can cause lung damage and recurrent bronchial infections. In infants, it can lead to brain damage and even death. It is most associated with very young children. First symptoms – usually a runny nose, dry cough and mild fever - begin about 7 to 10 days after exposure. After another week, the characteristic cough may develop; violent spasms of coughing followed by a high pitched whooping sound, (caused as the person forces air over a swollen larynx (voice box)), though in babies, this sound is often muted. The person may cough up huge amounts of thick saliva and vomiting is common. Coughing phase usually lasts up to six weeks; patients are highly susceptible to secondary infections that can be quite serious. Other complications resulting from the onset of Whooping Cough, along with the weakened condition of the patient and dehydration as a result of the infection can cause death. Today's treatment is reducing the length and severity of the infection by use of an antibiotic such as erythromycin. Prevention is the DPT (diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus) vaccine given in five doses between the ages of two months and 6 years. The vaccine shows a 90% effective rate.

Newspapers Mentioned in the Moweaqua Call-Mail

The Cowden Herald – Shelby County, Cowden, Illinois. In 1889, E W Anderson established the Cowden Herald. Mr W H Taylor took charge of the Herald in 1891 and carried forward the business for about two years. These newspaper enterprises in Cowden were attended with more or less success, the village having a paper most of the time till 18 March 1892, when the present office of The Reflector was established by O A Jewett and it has since been doing a good business. It was independent in politics till a few years ago, when it became a republican paper. Mr Jewett has a popular personality and is making a good paper.

The Daily Union - Shelby County, Shelbyville, Illinois. In 1874, H L Martin became the sole owner when his brother, P T Martin went out of the business in December. H L Martin has managed ably and has made The Union a paying plant since. He began issuing the Daily Union in January 1887, and his brother Harry Martin (now Shelbyville's postmaster) as editor—and he filled the post with marked sprightliness. The Martins are all clear and forcible writers with a flowing, easy style. James L Darby succeeded H M Martin as editor and manager, and The Daily has continued, under his pen and managerial methods to be bright, breezy, prosperous and popular.

The Findlay Enterprise – Shelby County, Findlay, Illinois. In Findlay, on 3 December 1892, J G Cutler brought forth the first issue of the Findlay Enterprise. In May 1893, Hubert Wright bought the paper who conducted it with honor and credit till May 1896, when he sold it to John W Moore, who bravely bore aloft its banner till the sheriff sold it in August 1897. It was resurrected in a short time by its founder, J G Cutler, who had been a Chicago printer after he sold out, and he has since been carrying forward the Enterprise. He bought both outfits new from Chicago to conform to what he thought a village newspaper plant should be and now has a paying business. Mr Cutler has a good business method and enjoys the respect of a good constituency. The Enterprise was independent in politics till September 1900 when it announced it would, from then on, be a Republican paper.

The Herald – Shelby County, Strasburg, Illinois. In November 1895, W H Fagen started a little newspaper in Strasburg with Harry Cartlidge as editor. In May 1896, he sold the paper to Thomas Inman, who conducted it till the following December when it suspended. Cartlidge and Inman made neat and reliable papers and helped their town by advertising it through their editorials and their ads—but the filed was too small and could not support it. Mr J H Quickset started The Herald which he is now managing with a degree of success.

The Moweaqua Register – Shelby County, Moweaqua, Illinois. It was in June 1872 that A M Anderson, editor, and John P Marnel, as publisher, issued the first newspaper ever in Moweaqua and it was called The Moweaqua Register. Anderson's incisive editorial style was enjoyed by the Moweaquans till December 1875, when it was sold to Arnold

Hughes, the payment being guaranteed by ten leading citizens of the village who knew the worth to a town of a newspaper. For about two years, Hughes ran it alone - when the enterprise was no more - the material passing to the citizens who stood surety for him. After about a year, the 7th of March 1878, F M Hughes bought the plant and started the Register again, and fought adverse conditions for another two years, when it ceased, the plant being taken away. On 12 January 1882, O'Banion and Co of Maroa started The Mail in Moweaqua with W A Steidley (now a successful newspaper man in Louisiana) as editor. It was printed in Maroa and distributed in Moweagua until March 1882, when Steidley bought it and opened up a home in Moweaqua. In the following September, C M Hiter and A Gilliland bought it and within the year, sold it to J W Crane. In August 1886, C M Hiter issued The Call, which later came into the hands of Pease Brothers, and then Fred & Burres, and finally to Winter and Neblock. In May 1889, W A Steidley took it and combined it with The Mail, which had been moving along through the efforts of Crane; then Johnson and Elsum, and then Pease Brothers, till sold to W A Steidley on 26 July 1889, at which time he gave his paper the name of both, The Call-Mail. On 1 April 1893, the present proprietor and editor, Bryce P Smith, bought and has since been making a pronounced success of the paper as a money-maker, and an influence-maker. It is today published in its own building, has a modern plant and enjoys prosperity.

The Moweaqua Republican – Shelby County, Moweaqua, Illinois. C W Crane took material from the Shelby County Citizen and produced The Moweaqua Republican. History repeated itself again and the plant sank out of sight. On 11 October 1894, Mrs Wm Whitworth got possession of the office, added material, and has since carried forward the enterprise with patience, energy and ability, and the paper has influence and standing as a consistent Republican organ and a reliable business concerns.

Our Best Words – Shelby County, Shelbyville, Illinois. Started about April 1880 by J L Douthit on a monthly basis. He ran a prohibition weekly during the campaign of 1886 and soon after he issued two publications, the monthly religious edition and the weekly prohibition edition. The monthly was discontinued in 1890 and he sold to J S Barnum in 1892. Mr Barnum changed the paper to a populist paper, as well as changing the name, and he called it The People's Paper.

The Shelbyville Democrat – Shelby County, Shelbyville, Illinois. Mr Lloyd withdrew in July 1875 and Dr Waggoner took sole ownership. In October 1876, he said: 'Believing that at least one of the three or four democratic newspapers published in the county ought to bear the family name, we this week send this paper out to its many readers and friends as The Shelbyville Democrat. Dr Waggoner was a ready, lucid and forceful writer and regarded as one of the best political editors in the state. In August 1885 he sold to T J and George R Graybill. On 1 February 1887, the firm became Graybill Bros. and Co with G W Cook as the CO. George R Graybill was editor and manager till Cook became a partner, when the latter took charge of the management. The Democrat has a large circulation and is a prosperous and influential journal, because energy and honesty will have their reward.

The Sigel Advocate – Shelby County, Sigel, Illinois. In June 1893, W S Baichley began publishing the Sigel Advocate and continued with profit to Sigel and more or less benefit to himself till he sold to W A Smith in October 1896, when the present proprietor, P C Trager, took ownership and has since been making it a good local paper that is doing Sigel and Mr Trager profit.

The Stewardson Enterprise. Shelby County, Stewardson, Illinois. Began on 7 June 1878, A M Anderson and H Martin got control of the paper in a few months. Not long after, C D Shumard bought Anderson's interest. In June 1879, W B Townsend took Shumard's interest and the business was continued as Harry Martin & Co, and in the December following, A M Anderson got possession and for a time made a good paper. He was an editor of force and dash. On 16 September 1887, W H Fagen and Zip Wilson started the Stewardson Clipper. Mr Wilson stepped out in a few months and Fagen has since developed the Clipper to its present force as a good local paper, a paying business. He has a good office, a good circulation. Fagen is genial and capable and has a popular paper.

The Tower Hill Breeze – Shelby County, Tower Hill, Illinois. In November 1880, Jacob Swallow of the Pana Palladium bought the True Democrat, Tower Hill's first own paper which began operation on 20 August 1880. Mr Swallow made an independent paper of the True Democrat and after it had been run awhile by Nin Alexander, it was gathered to its fathers, T G Holt and I K Story. They next essayed the rugged seas of newspaperdom in Tower Hill with the Tower Hill Breeze, about 1892. In about a year, Mr Holt took full control, however it was not long till Mr Holt died, when U G Huntoon bought the plant and ran the paper awhile. Thos P Smith took it from him about 1896 and held it about six months when he sold it to W E McCormick, who, for about a year, held it when he sold to H J Hamlin and C W Steward. They, feeling unable to undertake continuance of the enterprise, sold to U G Huntoon (again) who has since managed the Breeze with ability, it being popular, breezy, and a paying business of great value to the town as well as to Mr. Huntoon.

The Windsor Advocate – Shelby County, Windsor, Illinois. This was a thriving local paper published in Windsor for a time, abut 1885, by I H and Chas Gilpin, and it was one of the newsiest and best. Charley Gilpin was a ready writer and a good localizer.

The Windsor Gazette – Shelby County, Windsor, Illinois. J L Warden soon became the sole proprietor and made a good local newspaper of it. It next came into the hands of Charles and Thomas Miner (our present Sheriff), about 1889, and was conducted with energy and ability by them till a year or so, they sold to Wm E McCormick (our present Circuit Clerk) who managed it with good business method for about a year when he disposed of it to Bart Grider, who sold it after a short time to the present proprietors, Lilly and Dunscomb, who have an all home print paper on a paying basis. Mr Dunscomb is a fine printer and Mr Lilly is a good editor and manager, and the Gazette is neat and prosperous.

The Windsor Sentinel – Shelby County, Windsor, Illinois. A M Anderson bought a small newspaper plant from Joseph Prior to Clinton, Illinois, and took it to Windsor and began the publication of The Windsor Sentinel on 25 May 1876. On 7 January 1877, the plant was taken to Paris. It was but a short time, however, till the wisdom of the Windsor citizens, who knew that a local paper was a good enterprise for the delight and convenience of the people of the village, as well as a great force toward the proper growth and progress of the community, induced Anderson to get another plant and continue The Sentinel. He opened it up again in March, soon changed the name to The Dollar Sentinel, and it flourished and struggled fitfully till August 1879 when it ceased, the plant being removed to Shelbyville. Windsor knew another newspaper enterprise on 28 May 1878 when Warden Bros. began The Windsor Gazette.

Friday last, Mr and Mrs Ben Ruffner celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage at their home southeast of town. The event was in every way one of those joyous and happy occasions that must naturally culminate where two such estimable people have struggled along the path of life, hand in hand for 25 years. #### Thursday, 1 February 1894 issue, Moweaqua Call-Mail:

Mary Matilda Ludwig was born on 27 January 1873 in Flat Branch Township, Shelby County, Illinois, and died 23 January 1894, aged 20 years, 11 months and 26 days. A year ago, she was in the bloom of health and vigor. During the month of April she suffered from a severe attack of La Grippe, which settled upon her lungs. In July she grew seriously ill, and from that time on, gradually sank lower until death relieved her. All medical skill and the fondest care of father, mother, brothers and sisters seemed of no avail to restore her health. Tillie was converted in the year 1887 during the pastorate of John E Stullken, and the same year united with the German M E Church. At half past five o'clock Tuesday morning came the death struggle, which was her greatest triumph. She called the household to her bedside. Before this her voice was scarcely audible, but now she began speaking in plain, distinct and earnest words. To her younger brothers she said 'Be good boys'. To the older ones, "Do all the good you can and preach." To the sisters, "Be good and meet me there". To father and mother she said, "You are getting older and it won't be long and you'll come too and meet me there." "Tell Josie I see Roy walking around and have him by the hand. Tell Will I see Celia and Clara, they are all in white. I see Jesus walking in the room; I am sitting in his lap. Tell all the young people I thank them for what they have done for me. They should all do good and meet me there. Tell Philip and Julia to do all the good they can and meet me there. Pollie isn't here, but tell her I'm so glad she is saved." Then she desired father to pray with her once more, after which she wished the song, 'Safe in the Arms of Jesus' to be sung. She then died quietly in her father's arms. The funeral took place from the German M E Church. Her remains were laid to rest in the Cemetery near the Church. (Note: Unable to index names of

Saturday morning last, about daybreak, on 10 March 1894, George Hoover was found dead and cold in his bed. The discovery was made by his wife, who claims that while the old gentlemen was not feeling particularly well when he retired, his condition was by no means dangerous. He had shucked corn all day Friday, and had complained only of feeling tired. His wife says he was awake about midnight and at that hour, she spoke to him to which he responded, therefore, death came suddenly and quietly between that time and the morning light. It is thought to have been caused by heart failure. At the time of his death Mr Hoover was about 73 years of age, and himself and his wife, have been residents of this vicinity for several years. They had resided on Zealy Snell's place but a short time. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, Rev T M Griffith officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in the city Cemetery. Died on Saturday, September 15, 1894, at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of her son, Bryce P Smith in Moweagua, Illinois, Mrs Sarah Jane Smith, aged 65 years. Death came quietly and sweetly, entirely free from suffering after a brief illness of two weeks, which was not considered dangerous until the last day. For 20 years, mother had been a sufferer from asthma which wearing upon her constitution gradually wrecked her physically. Since her residence in Moweagua, she has rarely been able to leave the house. Sarah Jane Nash was born in Lincoln (now Boyle) County, Kentucky, on 13 October 1829 being one of six children of Marvel and Nancy Nash who came from Virginia to Kentucky in an early day. But two of these children survive her - Samuel Nash, who resides in Johnson County, Indiana, and Martha A Shipley, who resides in Oklahoma. At the age of 8 years she contracted a disease of the eyes that resulted in total blindness and until the day of her death, her life was as dark as midnight. At 16 years of age she entered the Kentucky Institute for the Blind at Louisville, Kentucky, and acquired a most excellent education, graduating with honors, and then occupying a position as teacher of the blind in the same institution. On 26 July 1853, she was united in marriage to Joseph Brown Smith of Dover, New Hampshire, who was, at that time, professor of music in the Kentucky Institute for the Blind. Father was also totally and entirely blind from infancy, though at birth, his sight was perfect. Prior to his coming out to Kentucky he was a graduate of the Boston Blind school and then took a Harvard course, graduating with high honors in the Class of 1844, being the first and only blind man who ever graduated from that institution up to that date. To this union of physical darkness and intellectual light, but one child was born, the writer, though father had been married formerly in New Hampshire and a son was born of that union, J Haydn Smith, who is yet living. Father died on 6 May 1859, after only 6 years of married life, leaving mother and child alone to face the world. Father and mother were life long old school Unitarians, having a firm and abiding faith in the fatherhood of God. Mother died as she had lived, longing to go. No tongue can tell, no pen can portray a mother's love. She was my mother—I loved her. From childhood into mature womanhood, she was a like companion and friend, advisor, and counselor. Signed Bryce P Smith, Moweagua, Illinois

At his home in this city, Friday morning last, November 9, 1894, at 8:15 o'clock, surrounded by his loved ones after several days of intense agony, Charles Snell passed from human suffering into restful and peaceful realm of immortality. At the time of his death he was in the 35th year of age, and suffered from Bright's disease. Charles Snell was born on 19 May 1860 on his father's farm in Flat Branch Township. He lived there until he was 22 years of age when, on account of failing health, he removed to Decatur, residing there three years. He then returned to this city, and he married Beatrice McDonald, on 18 July 1888, who survives him, with her two children, Clifton McDonald, aged 5 years, and Markie McDonald, aged 2 years. Fred P and Eliza Snell, his parents, and their children, Mark, Frank, Will, Elmer and Cora Snell also survive him. During his life, Charlie most competently filled many positions of public trust, and while his religious convictions were of the highest and purest nature, he was not a member of any Church. He was the family advisor and many of the darkened paths of life were made clear by him. He always took the side of right. Services occurred Sunday morning at the Baptist Church which was filled to its utmost capacity by the relatives and friends of the deceased. All that is mortal of Charles Snell lies peacefully at rest in our Cemetery. (Article lists pall bearers, describes his funeral services, songs said and passages read, not copied in this article. Brief funeral services were held here at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, and the remains, accompanied by Mrs Snyder and her brother, J P Jarman, of Trenton, Missouri, were taken to her old home at Richmond, Kentucky, where they were interred beside those of her husband in the family burying ground.

Saturday evening last, Laura McCarty arrived in this city from Monroe City, Missouri, bringing with her a child about 18 months old and proceeded at once to swear out a state warrant against W H Murphy, who resides on the Wm Snyder farm, charging him with being the father of her child. Monday morning, Mr Murphy and Miss McCarty, went over to Shelbyville and were married. Prior to their departure. Mr Murphy arranged with his former alleged wife (she was once his wife but they are now legally divorced), but transferring to her, all his available property. She and the children will probably leave in the near future. The Mrs Murphy that was, left Monday night. The entire matter possesses many peculiar surroundings over which the Call Mail is disposed to throw the mantle of charity, as it is unfit for publication. She leaves one child who is in a pitiful condition from being sick so long, the father and Mrs Spence are both very sick.

Last week, Charlie Boys, son of James Boys, Sr. one of the richest men in Ridge Township, created a ripple of surprise by coming to town and claiming Miss Della Risacker, daughter of Jacob Risacker, the brick layer, as his wife. This rather startled the girl's family as they had no knowledge that the young man as then had any special claim upon their daughter, other than that he had be a-courting her real steady for several years. And, he was generally considered as her 'best fellow', but when Charlie produced a certificate showing that the two had been duly and lawfully made husband and wife at Vandalia, better than two years ago, they cheerfully turned the new found Mrs Boys over to her husband and sent them away, rejoicing with their blessing. The young couple is spending their honeymoon at Deer Park, Alabama. (Shelbyville Leader).

Kindly, genial, whole-souled Tilmon Weakly is no more. The angel of death visited the household, taking therefrom a devoted husband and a loving father. Shortly after nine o'clock on Thanksgiving morning, Tilmon Weakly suffered a paralytic stroke at his home. Medical attendance was summoned at once, but nothing could be done, except in a measure to ease his suffering. He lingered until two o'clock Friday morning, when, surrounded by the loved ones of his household, death came to his relief. It is said that at that time, his suffering was intense, and appeared to be produced from concussion of the brain. The deceased had been a resident of this city for 17 years, and his vocation was that of a wagon maker and machinist. In his particular forte, he was a skilled mechanic, whose pride was to do well, any piece of work that was worth doing at all. She was in the seventy-sixth year of her age and rather feeble and the direct cause may be attributed to a peculiar stomach trouble and general debility. She had resided in this community for thirty years and was a woman whose noble unselfish life had surrounded her with a host of loving friends. The deceased had been a faithful and conscientious member of the Christian church the larger part of her life and when the end came for this loving mother, it was simply a transition of life into eternal light. She leaves six children to mourn the loss of their mother: Charles Cowle, J W Cowle, George Cowle of Kansas, Mrs H Goodwin, of Normal; Mrs L J Cooper and Mrs F E VanGundy, both of Macon. Sunday morning last, this community was suddenly shocked and deeply grieved by the intelligence that James G Stewart was dead. At first, the report could hardly be accredited. The afternoon before he had been in town trading and seemed to be enjoying excellent health. A terrible tragedy occurred in Dillon Township, Tazewell County, the other evening. John Bowlby, a farmer, was seated in the parlor of his home with his wife. Albert Wallace, his brother-in-law, and Thomas Lyman, a hired hand. They were singing and passing a pleasant evening. Suddenly, Wallace entered the bed room and, taking a number of shells, he walked around the house a few times, and finally commenced shooting through the window at the persons inside. The first shot tore a large portion of one of Bowlby's hand's off, while the second entered his wife's chest, causing injuries which it was thought would certainly result in her death. By this time, Lyman was on the front porch to investigate, and was greeted with a regular fusillade. The first shot badly scarred his head, while the second, fired from a revolver, entered his left side and the third his hip. He retreated to the house. Jessie Trowbridge hastened for officers and doctors, who soon arrived. The wounds were dressed. The next morning Wallace surrendered to the authorities and was locked up. A few years ago, Wallace's father was shot and instantly killed by a tenant, with whom he had a dispute, and Wallace has ever since brooded over the disposition made of his father's property. This is regarded as the cause of the tragic shooting.

Lawrence Lyman, another victim of Albert Wallace's shooting in Tazewell County, has passed into eternity, making two deaths as a result of this tragedy. Lyman's body contained 80 buckshot. He made a death bed statement which brands Wallace as the murderer beyond any doubt. Lyman, on his deathbed, stated that by moonlight, he distinctly saw Albert Wallace as he leveled the shotgun and fired through the window at John Bowlby was is fatally wounded. Wallace then fired again through the door hitting Belle Bowlby who died. Wallace was taken to Peoria and jailed for safekeeping.

Wednesday, 13 March 1895 issue, Moweaqua Call-Mail:

Thursday morning, 7 March 1895, about nine o'clock, Esquire S D West quietly passed from earth into the infinite unknown. For 40 years he had been a resident of this city and perhaps no man in this vicinity enjoyed a more far reaching acquaintance. A blacksmith by profession, his life was one of almost continuous labor, and truly may it be said that literally, his bread had been earned by the sweat of his brow. Esquire Samuel D West had been an invalid for nearly a year prior to his death, and his last few weeks on earth were attended with great suffering. Esq West was an honored member of Moweaqua Lodge A. F. and A. M. having united with the lodge in 1856, and who conducted the services under the auspices of that order, last Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Baptist church. Rev T M Griffith officiated. Pallbearers were Wm Johnson and Robert Patterson of Macon, S M Adams, Henry Fowler, E M Warren and N T Skiff. Died at his home in Moweaqua, Illinois, on Thursday, 7 March 1895, at 9:30 AM, Sam'l D West. He was a native of New York, born 12 August 1821. His age at the time of his death was 73 years, 6 months and 25 days. He learned the blacksmith trade when young and became an expert in iron and steel. He married Miss Emily J Baggerly on 28 May 1844, by whom he had five children, Harrison, Jaries, Olin, Frank and Jennie. Two only are living. He moved west about 40 years ago and settled at Moweaqua. He united with the M E Church shortly after coming west, becoming dissatisfied, he united with the Church for the Deciples (as spelled), about 20 years ago. He was for a layman, very well versed in the New Testament. His listening ear, his retentive memory, his keen perception, and his desire for scriptural knowledge made him a prompter to even the ministry of the village. Many years ago he became addicted to the drink habit, and it was a serious question to him and his friends, who should he master. The struggle was fierce and long; the victory seemed to perch on the banner of the 'demon' and he finally found vantage ground and availed himself to the 'Murphy or Blue Ribbon movement' and took the pledge and donned the blue ribbon, since which time an exemplary life began to assert itself. Card of thanks signed by Frank West and family. (Hand sketched likeness included in the front of this

From the Freeport newspaper: Thomas Beverly, sentenced to be hanged in Freeport on 15 March 1895, and whose sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Govt.

Altgeld, shortly before the date of his execution, is an innocent man, according to the statement of Mrs Otto Herbig, who died here. Mrs Herbig, on her death bed, stated in the presence of Justice Weaver, Rev Father Horan, and other witnesses that her husband, Otto Herbig, struck the blow which killed August Altemeir in this city last October.

Herbig was found guilty as an accessory and given eighteen years. The trial created great excitement in this vicinity and when first arrested, Beverly was in danger of lynching. Mrs Herbig stood by her husband until the last. She saw him strike the blow that killed Altemeir, but kept his secret until upon her deathbed. Charles N Smith, a resident of Decatur, widely known in the baseball world as 'Pacer' Smith, is in the Decatur jail charged with attempted murder of his wife and daughter, and with the murder of Miss Edna Buchert, aged 17, a sister of Mrs Smith. Smith used a six shooter, self-action revolver and went to the home of Frank Buchert at 4 o'clock Saturday evening to murder his wife and child and then kill himself. He first shot the little girl in the neck and then turned the weapon on his wife who fled through the house. Smith attempted to head her off by running around on the outside. He fired at her again twice, but missed her, one of the bullets striking Edna Buchert in the breast. She died in a few minutes. Smith was arrested with the revolver in his hand. Today he confessed his purpose. The couple had not been living together for five years, but Smith was allowed to go to the house to see his child. He often threatened to kill his wife and child and then take his own life. Smith has asked the sheriff to take him away from Decatur. He fears he will be lynched. It is probable that little Louise Smith, the child, will recover, but she will be partly paralyzed. Smith has been repeatedly arrested for misdemeanors. Louise began sinking at 4 o'clock Sunday evening. It was not noticed at the time, but now the relatives can recall unfavorable symptoms they did not speak of at the time. The child was apparently in no pain. Pretty as a picture, she lay upon her bed, her luxuriant light hair in tangled curls extending out over the soft pillows. In the night she began singing in a plaintive way, little songs she had been taught by her loving mother. At first she sang alone and then she asked those who stood about in the room to join in the song with her. She asked for Edna who had always taken care of her and loved her dearly. 'I want to see Edna', said Louise. I want to tell her I am going to a funeral. But, of course, Edna could not come, she lay dead in the front room. All night long the child made little requests and sang her nursery songs until at last she became quiet and fell asleep forever. The father was indicted for murder of Louise Smith, his daughter and Edna Buchert, his sister-in-law.

Born on Thursday morning, 24 October 1895, to Mr and Mrs Seth Marshall, a boy. Grandma Dewitt quietly passed away Monday morning. Death did not come unexpectedly for several months she had been gradually declining. During her last days she retained many of her mental faculties and the loved ones about her gave her every possible attention. (Picture of Grandma Dewitt in a lace bonnet accompanies this article. I tried to make a copy of this picture, however it was so dark, facial features didn't show clear enough to put in this book.). The funeral services were held from the Baptist church yesterday morning. Rev Griffith assisted by Rev L N Williams, officiating. The remains were interred n the Masonic cemetery. The pallbearers were Jas Kirkman, Wm Whitworth, Nathan Humphrey, V F Hilvety, Thos Smith and Jos Duncan Sr. Mrs Susanah DeWitt was born in Genoa, Cayuga County, New York, on the 28th of October 1800 and died near Moweaqua, Illinois, on the 28th of October, 1895, age at the time of her death was 95 years and 6 months. She married Matthias Parker, a native of Canada, by whom she had six children. He died in the state of New York, while the children were quite young. She married the second time, Mr Owen DeWitt with whom she had seven children. Shortly after the last marriage they came to Pike Co, Illinois and afterward to Shelby County. For nearly 35 years she has made her home with her son, Lemuel Parker and remained with him until she died. Mr DeWitt died in 1866, leaving her a widow almost 30 years. Grandma DeWitt was the mother of 13 children, 38 grandchildren, and 44 great grand-children. Only 6 of her children are now living, two Parkers and four DeWitts. About the age of 15 she was converted and joined the church of her Savior, a member of the church a little over 80 years. She greatly honored it during life, never absenting herself from services when possible to be present. She told her pastor during her whole life, she was never waited upon for dereliction of duty or any misdemeanor. She would often enquire about the well-fare of the body when she was no longer able to visit her spiritual home. Her age and infirmity prevented her attendance upon the seasons of worship. Mrs McHenry was in the 70th year of her age at the time of her death and had been more or less an invalid for many years. Patient, uncomplaining, she cheerfully attended her household duties almost to the end. She was indeed a lovable character and her mission on earth—that of a devoted wife and loving mother—was perfectly fulfilled. She was united with the Methodist Church when very young. She was a great lover of flowers and saw in them all that was good and pure, and beautiful. The funeral services were held from the ME Church yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the house was crowded to the fullest capacity the friends of the deceased. Interment in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery. Saturday morning at an early hour at his home in Pickaway Township, after an illness of several weeks, John Luffers, an old pioneer of 1846, breathed his last. They, however, raised a splendid girl, who is now the wife of M F Cutler. At the time of the failure of Thornton's Bank, Mr Luffers had several thousand dollars on deposit there but he took his loss philosophically, and went right on earning money to the end of his days. Reposing special trust and confidence in Ralph Ayars of this city, it was among the old gentleman's dying requests that Rollie be appointed administrator of his estate. The funeral services were held at Little Flock on Monday afternoon. Rev Smock officiated. Interment was made at the same place. John Freeman is dead. Kindly, cordial and genial always, combining a clear practical business ability with an inexhaustible supply of wit ever strictly honorable in the highest degree, John Freeman was known and beloved throughout north Shelby and Macon counties. He was the first supervisor of Moweaqua Township and at one time was chairman of the Shelby County board of supervisors. He was a member of the Masons, Odd Fellows, and Knights of Honor. A large number of persons from here and surrounding country went up to Decatur this morning to attend the funeral, many going on train, others driving up. The Call-Mail clips the following from the Herald Dispatch of Decatur: John Freeman of Moweaqua died of paralysis on Monday afternoon at the home of his son, J B Freeman on West Macon street. Although his home was at Moweaqua, he is looked upon more as a citizen of this place. He made his home here for a number of years and until recently had been in the shoe business with his brother, James Freeman on Merchant Street. During his residence here he lived on West Main street and for a time was identified with Oscar Spaulding in the Deming Hotel business. When Mr Spaulding went to Champaign a few years ago to run the Hotel there. Mr Freeman returned to his farm near Moweaqua and has since resided there, although he spent a considerable amount of his time in this city. He has not been in robust health for a year or more past. Ten months ago he came to this city to visit his son. J B Freeman preparatory to going south in the hope that he could recuperate his strength. While here he was stricken with paralysis and has never recovered from the effects of it. Mr Freeman was a native of Boston, Massachusetts, having been born there on 14 January 1831. He came to Illinois in 1841 and settled first at Hillsboro, Illinois, attending the Shurtleff College. While he was yet a student, the California gold excitement broke out and he joined a party of western adventurers. He crossed the plains with them, and for three years worked in the Mariposa gold fields. At the end of three years, he came back east and went to his old home in Boston, Massachusetts. He said to have been among the first white men to enter the Yosemite Valley. Mr Freeman returned from Boston to Illinois in 1856 and took up his residence near Moweagua. He invested in a big farm, which he retained until his death. He cleared up the land and made it into a typical Illinois farm. It is among the best in Central Illinois and is known as Paradise Farm. A wife and two children survive him. The children are Mrs. O. F. Spaulding of Champain and John B Freeman of this city. He is survived by two brothers, James Freeman, the well-known shoe dealer, and Benjamin S Freeman of Boston. One sister, Mrs. Anna F Watson lives at Oakland, California. Mr Freeman, while taking no active part in politics was an ardent republican. He had many warm personal friends in this and Shelby County and was a citizen of whom any community would feel proud. He was an affable and companionable gentleman of the old school and the friendships that he made were lasting. In his country home at Moweaqua, he was an ideal host and his hospitality was unbounded. The funeral will be held from the residence of his son West Macon Street on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be in the Greenwood Cemetery in Decatur. Friday afternoon, 14 August 1896, between five and six o'clock, Grandma Camilla A Washington died at the home of her daughter, Mrs Dr. Buck. Death did not come unexpectedly, on the contrary, her physical vitality had been slowly succumbing to a paralytic stoke for several days and when the end came, it was with the fullness of a Godgiven release from all physical suffering. (Article has a picture of Mrs Washington). For many years, she had been an invalid, bearing her affliction with noblest of christian fortitude. Always bright and cheerful, ever kind and lovable through all her years of suffering she held to the end a mind and heart bright and strong, filled with warmest of love and affection for all the world. For thirty years our people have known here—always just the same—with a loving word of christian advice, with a sweet and tender sympathy and consolation for all in affliction, her heart was as a bubbling spring of love and charity. Camilla A. Mann was born in Todd Co, Kentucky, 23 March 1816. She was married to Fairfax Washington in January 1837. To them were born three children. She was one of those few now left whose experience connect the heroic past with the present in Church life; one of those straightforward earnest souls to whom life with its responsibilities—character with its solemn outcome—salvation by grace, with it rich experience; divine companionship and gracious privileges were all living realities. Nine times she had read the Bible and nearly the tenth time. How she delighted on the 1st of each October to look back to the old camp ground and praise God for the beginning of the new life that came to her at 1 o'clock on that date. Wednesday, 9 September 1896 issue, Moweaqua Call-Mail

Between eleven and twelve o'clock Saturday, 5 September 1896, in the 84th year of his age, at the home of his daughter, Mrs Tom C Ponting in Christian County, Grandpa Michael Schneider quietly and peacefully breathed his last. He had been quite indisposed for several weeks, though his condition was not considered dangerous even up to the hour of his death. Grandpa Schneider was one of the early pioneers of central Illinois, the founder of our beloved little city, and a man whose sterling integrity will long survive him. To him, is the city indebted for the beautiful city park, which was a give in fee simple, cheerfully given for the benefit of the public at large. Michael Schneider, Sr, the honored founder of the city of Moweaqua is one of the early pioneers of Central Illinois, and his name is indissolubly linked with its rise and growth. His progressive public spirit and generous benefactions bestowed with rare judgement and critical discernment as to the future needs of the community and the best way to promote its highest interest, have been instrumental in pushing forward various enterprises that have been of great benefit to this section of the state. On the banks of the beautiful Rhine in Germany, our subject was born in October 1812. His father, who bore the same name as himself, was born in the same Rhenish province and was there reared on a farm. He married Mary Bauer who was a native of that part of Germany and died there in 1820. In 1824, the father of our subject resolved to emigrate to America, where he hoped to better his condition. He came to this country accompanied by five of his seven children and first settled at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. In 1827, he removed to Ohio, and for a time, resided near Cincinnati. He subsequently identified himself with the pioneers of Brown County, in the same State, and on the farm that he bought there, passed the remained of his life. Michael Schneider, of whom these lines are written, was a lad of eleven years when his father came to this country, and he and a sister were at that time, left in charge of an uncle, but two years later the father sent for them. They set sail from Hamburg in May 1826, landing at New York, 80 days later. Our subject went to Ohio with his father and for a time lived with him near Cincinnati, which was then only a good-sized village. He was a strong, self-reliant, manly boy, and at once commenced to earn his own living, finding employment with Andrew Heredes, with whom he remained for some years, and in 1833, he came with him to Illinois, making the journey hither over those great highways of pioneer travel, the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. He located with his employer on Lick Creek, in Sangamon County, and there Mr Heredes erected one of the first steam grist mills ever operated in the State of Illinois. In 1835, Mr Schneider borrowed $50 of Esq Campbell and entered forty acres of Government land in what is now Christian County, his purchase adjoining the present site of Moweagua. He bought the claim of Mrs Denton, and five acres of it were cleared, and a log house stood on the place. There were no railroads here for many years after he settled on his land in 1837, and he had to draw all his grain to St Louis with ox-teams where he sold it for 37 and ½ cents a bushel, and his hogs only brought him $1.25 to $1.50 a hundred pounds. Deer were plentiful and with prairie chickens and wild turkeys, formed a welcome addition to the fare of the pioneers. Mr Schneider worked early and late in the upbuilding of his new home, being greatly assisted by the active cooperation of his wife and he prospered exceedingly in his efforts to secure a competency. He invested his money judiciously, continually entering and buying other land near his original purchase until he had 2,000 acres, all told of land of surpassing fertility. This included the land upon which the thriving city of Moweaqua now stands. Attracted by the unrivaled beauty of the spot and the natural advantages for the site of a town, our subject determined to plat the land, and afterward carried out his plans, which have given to this County, one of the brightest ornaments, 'one of the prettiest villages of the State', to quote from an enthusiastic admirer, and here center many lovely homes and happy firesides in dwellings of a modern and attractive style of architecture. Its people are cultured, thrifty, prosperous and enterprising; its Church privileges and educational advantages are exception, its varied industries and business enterprises are ably conducted under sound financial methods. One attraction of the city, though it may be a negative one, is eminently worthy of mention and that is that fact that there have been no saloons for the sale of liquor here for years, which speaks well for the temperance and sobriety of the citizens. The blessings of a happy married life have been vouchsafed to our subject, as by his marriage in October 1833, with Miss Margaret Kautz, he secured a true and loving wife, and they have lived in peace and harmony for nearly fifty-seven years. They have reared seven children to honorable and useful lives: Michael, Christopher, Margaret, William, Valentine, Adam and Caroline. Mrs Schneider was born in Baden Germany, 21 March 1811, and is a daughter of Christopher and Caroline Lichtenbarger Kautz, who were also natives of Baden, Germany. (Note: According to the 8 January 1896, Call-Mail extract (above), there was a letter from a Mrs Ney that stated she was sorry to hear of the death of Lizzie Snyder; apparently Mrs Snyder died near the end of 1895 or early 1896). Her father spent his entire life there, while her mother came to America in the latter part of her life and died in Brown County, Ohio. (Note: From the Biographical Record of Shelby County the Call-Mail gleans the above dates and notes about the deceased). (Note: The deceased father's name was spelled 'Schneider' in the Biographical Record, but have found it also spelled 'Snyder'. I have copied it exactly as it appeared in the Call-Mail showing the obit verbatim.) Services were held from the M E Church on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev E J Durham officiating and the attendance was very large. Pallbearers were six grandsons of the deceased: Karl R and Ralph Snyder, Everett Ponting, Arthur Gregory, Ernest Snyder and Eugene Snyder. His remains were laid to rest beside those of his wife in the family lot in I. O. O. F. cemetery. He was about 38 years of age, industrious and steady, and business seemed to prosper until within the last two years when he was in financial straits. He had been in despondent moods lately, at times being plunged in profound melancholy. Malson had been in their employ for several months. He was out with a team on the day of the tragedy leaving the house at noon and returned at six o'clock as was his daily habit. He stopped at the house but finding no one there, drove on to the barn to put up the horses. He unharnessed his animals and put them into their stalls and started to the loft to thrown down some hay. He was astonished to discover three bodies lying on the floor and horrified to find life extinct from them. All three had been shot in the head at close range. There was no doubt that Mr Wilson had shot his family and then himself.

The marriage of Martha E Bramlett and George W Revnolds: The story of the marriage and separation of Mrs Martha E Bramlett and George W Reynolds reads like a romance. Mrs Bramlett, nee Revnolds, is a lady widely known and highly respected. A woman who has perhaps as many friends in this section of the country as any other person. She has ever been straightforward and honest and has raised a most estimable family within our midst. She is a woman who has been the victim of a combination of peculiar circumstances, which redounded as a misfortune rather than a fault of hers. The story of her marriage with Reynolds is a woman perhaps 50 years of age and Reynolds is probably 30 years old. As the result of a singular infatuation, these two were married at Blue Mound early last Spring. On the day of her wedding, Mrs Reynolds conveyed by deed 80 acres of land as a free gift to Reynolds, and selling her personal effects at the Mound, she removed to Moweaqua with her young husband and family. It was not long before she discovered the dissipated and profligate character of her husband. Reynolds chased every dollar out of sight that came within his reach finally making a grand stand play to sell the 80 acres that his wife had deeded him. At this time, Mrs Reynolds' children interfered, Frank Bramlett going so far as to question his mother's sanity, and finally through legal process had her estate thrown into the hands of a conservator. Following this, Mrs Reynolds visited relatives in Missouri for a few weeks. It was during this time that the sportive Reynolds displayed his real character, and wound up by being heavily fined for gambling. In the meantime, Mrs Emma Boyd, a daughter of Mrs Reynolds, arrived from Kentucky and Mrs Reynolds returning from Missouri, listened to the pleadings of her loved and loving children, and consented to a separation from Reynolds. As a result of several conferences, it was determined to pay Reynolds a consideration to release all his right title and interest in any and all properties belonging to his wife. This was done one day last week, the consideration being about $65 and Reynolds has vanished. Mrs Reynolds has removed her family to Blue Mound where they now permanently reside. The infant boy, aged just three weeks, of Mr and Mrs Frank Stroud died on Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock PM after a brief, but very severe illness with stomach trouble. The remains were taken to Maroa for interment in the family burying grounds on the 'Daylight Special' on Friday morning after a brief funeral service at the residence here. Rev E J Durham officiated at the services.

He has succeeded in doing so, but all will forgive him and join in wishing him joy. (Decatur Republican)

Since the mysterious death of Rev James Miller, there have been afloat many conflicting statements as to the manner of the death of a brother of the deceased, Rev George Miller, who died in 1869 or 1870. The Republican sent a letter to W B Hodge, Jr, County Clerk of Clark County at Marshall, Illinois, in which County Westfield is located. He was asked to make close inquiries and inspect the record of the coroner. Here is the reply: "Marshall, Illinois, 8 December 1896. Republican: I made inquires of the most prominent people of Westfield here attending court, and they say that no man by that name ever committed suicide there and the coroner's records do not show it. Yours, W B Hodge, Jr." (Decatur Republican). Dr I N Dixon of Springfield has made a number of experiments with the revolver and he thinks that Rev James Miller was murdered because his face was not powder burned, nor on the inner surface of the skin surrounding the wound, which is not blackened. "In my judgement, it was not a case of suicide, but murder."

Monday afternoon, a little after four o'clock, James Ryan, having occasion to go into Room No 5, found the body of Jacob Spitz lying cold in death, covered with slate. He had been dead more than an hour. Spitz was working alone at the time and it is supposed that in loosening coal above him with a pick, a mass of slate fell with tremendous force and weight, striking him down instantly. His skull was fractured in one place, sufficiently to have caused death. He was morose and at times despondent, and had frequently been heard to say that he 'wished the roof would fall in on him'. He was 53 years of age, a German by birth, unmarried, and had no relatives in this County. An inquest was held yesterday, Esquires N Humphrey and W G Colbert acting in connection with the County coroner. The deceased came here from Chicago about the first of December and had boarded while here with Mrs C Thomas; that he had but little personal property, including $2.79 in cash which was found on his person. The funeral services of the deceased were held yesterday afternoon from the Baptist Church, and remains interred by Director Stine in the city cemetery. Verdict of the jury was that Jacob Spitz, came to his death by slate falling on the left temple or left side of his head, crushing and as a result, he came to his death. He was mining in Room Number 5, third entry, south, on west side of the coal mine operated by the Moweaqua Coal Mining and Manufacturing Company at Moweaqua, Shelby County, Illinois, and that said death of Jacob Spitz was ruled accidental. There was all evidence that the said company had used all necessary care to insure the safety of miners working in said Mine Room No. 5. Signed J H Donnel, Foreman A telegram reached the city Sunday last, announcing the death of Uncle Abe Workman. The old gentleman was in his seventieth year and because of his failing mind, had been an inmate of the asylum at Kankakee for nearly a year. During this period his mind has continued to fail and death came as a sweet release to all mental and physical suffering. Uncle Abe, as he was familiarly called, was the father of eleven children, 6 boys and 5 girls. In conversation with ex-supervisor, J M Workman, of Flat Branch, one of the children, he told us that the old gentleman had always been an earnest Church member and it had ever been his endeavor to raise an honest and upright set of children. Remains were brought from Kankakee to Moweaqua on Monday, the services were held that afternoon from the residence of Mrs Wm Moss, a daughter of the deceased. The remains were laid to rest in the Hays cemetery.

The change of climate was not in the least beneficial and he gradually grew worse. Three months ago, he returned to Taylorville, knowing that death would soon ensue, and preferring to die among his relatives than in a land of strangers. The deceased is survived by his wife and one son, Seth Peel. The latter resides in Oklahoma. Wm Peel of this city, is a brother of the deceased. Thursday morning Mr and Mrs R R Adams started to town in a single seat spring wagon and while enroute met Thyler Chapman, who they asked to share the seat with them. Continuing on their way the seat being crowded, the team took freight at a passing covered wagon, and Mr Adams was thrown violently to the ground, breaking three or four ribs and sustaining other injured. Dr Godfrey and Sparling were summoned at once and gave all possible relief but it was soon evident that Mr Adams was injured internally and too quite seriously ill. Sunday he was much worse and after much suffering Sunday night, he passed away Monday morning. Randal R Adams was one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens of east Christian County. At the time of his death he was in the sixty-third year of his age and enjoying excellent health. His physicians say that the direct cause of his death was from a laceration of the lungs caused by his fall from the wagon. A strange fatality seems to follow this family as Mr Adams' brother, William, was killed in much the same way about four years ago, and two brothers have been seriously injured by runaway horses. The brother killed was driving a load of hogs to market when he fell out of the wagon and the wheels passed over his neck. He died instantly. The funeral services took place yesterday afternoon at the family residence west of town. Elder W L Ennefer of the Blue Mound Christian church officiating. The G A R post and the Masons lodge of this city, of which Mr Adams was an earnest and active member participated in the burial ceremonies. The funeral procession met at the I. O. O. F. cemetery where his mortal remains were laid to rest. Randal Richeson Adams was born in Sangamon County, Illinois, on 17 June 1835, and was married to Miss Mary E Northcutt of Christian County, Illinois, 16 March 1858. To them were born ten children, Andrew E Adams, Aden L Adams, Thomas B Adams, George B Adams, Anna L Adams, Illinois, P Adams, Mary B Adams, Maude G Adams, Jennie N Adams, Salina T Adams, of which three have preceded him to a better world, Mary B, Maud G and Thomas B Adams. He united with the Christian church in 1861 and moved his membership to Blue Mound, Illinois, of which society he was a member until death on 5 July 1897, aged 62 years and 18 days. The direct cause of her death was paralysis, with which she had been sorely afflicted. The dear old lady had been blind many years, yet with all her sufferings, she bore her afflictions, and patiently suffered with truest christian fortitude. She lived in Moweaqua at one time continuously for thirty years and naught save kindly words are said for Grandma Casey. Her surviving children are Mrs Elizabeth Malone, Mrs Laura Conrad, and Sam, James, and George Casey. The remains were tenderly laid to rest in the Tolly cemetery, southeast, Sunday morning in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Rev Jos Thomas of this city made a few appropriate remarks beside the grave. Sarah Virden was born 13 January 1821 and had arrived at almost seventy-seven years of age at the time of her death. On 26 November 1840, she was married to Levi Casey, whose demise occurred on 6 March 1893. The fifty-three years of married life was spent very happily by them and to the union were born five children, all of whom are still living and all the children were present except George Casey when the mother died. "Grandma' Casey as she was familiarly known here, had been totally blind for about 20 years, but she had been a patient sufferer, possessing a christian spirit and apparently happy when surrounded by her children and friends. She was a highly respected old lady and familiarly known to every citizen in this community. Abut 30 years ago, Mr and Mrs Levi Casey moved to Pana from Moweaqua and established the 'Casey House' on the site of the old Maxfield and conducted it for a long number of years until both became aged, and they moved into the residence of North Locust, where they spent the remaining days of their lives.
